Warranty and Repair Procedures

NRC-WAR-011 · effective 1 April 2026 · Northlane Retail Co. - Customer Care Standards Board

Warranty cover

Warranty is provided by the manufacturer and is administered by Northlane on the manufacturer's behalf for the first 6 months from delivery.

The warranty period for each article is shown on its product page and is printed on the invoice. Electronics carry warranties of 12, 24 or 36 months depending on the article. Kitchen and Home Goods carry 6 to 24 months. Apparel and Footwear carry no manufacturer warranty beyond a 6 month manufacturing defect cover on stitching and soles.

Faulty on arrival

An article that does not function on first use is treated as faulty on arrival where the customer reports it within 7 calendar days of delivery.

A faulty on arrival report is resolved by replacement of the same article where stock exists, or by full refund where it does not. The customer is not asked to deal with the manufacturer's service centre in this window.

Beyond 7 days, a fault is handled as a warranty repair rather than as a faulty on arrival case.

What the warranty does not cover

Warranty does not cover damage caused by misuse, by liquid ingress, by unauthorised repair, by use of a non approved charger or accessory, by normal cosmetic wear, or by consumable parts such as batteries after 6 months of use.

Physical damage discovered after delivery and not reported within 48 hours of delivery is not covered.

Removing or defacing the serial number or the warranty seal voids the warranty entirely.

Raising a warranty claim

A warranty claim requires the order number, a description of the fault, and photographs or a short video showing the fault where the fault is visible.

Northlane arranges pickup of the article for inspection. Inspection takes up to 7 business days from receipt at the service centre.

Where a fault is confirmed the article is repaired or replaced at the manufacturer's discretion. Where no fault is found the article is returned to the customer and no charge is raised.

Turnaround commitments

A warranty repair is completed within 15 business days of the article reaching the service centre.

Where a repair exceeds 21 business days the customer may request a replacement of equivalent specification instead, and the request is granted without further escalation.
